One of the freshest, most liberating weekends you will spend. Eastern feminism meets western feminism. Explore your femininity and power through goddesses and dance.

Join the dynamic Dr. Kaouthar Darmoni, an internationally recognized professor in gender and media, and the creator of 'Kaouthar Feminine Capital & Divine 9 Dance®' who will be coming from Europe to deliver her powerful program for the first time in Canada.

Explore leadership through the lens of a woman and the 7 goddess archetypes – understand how you show up in the world as the goddess you are. Connect to the feminine wisdom of your body through the fun, joyful and sensual Divine 9 Dance®. Find support, guidance, and wisdom to be your most authentic self, release tension, and ignite passion in your life.

- Connect with other women exploring their truth, strength, and wisdom.
- Exercise and release stress and tension through dance becoming light, playful and joyful.

“Kaouthar’s Goddess retreat and seminar was one of the most inspiring and liberating leadership and personal development programs I’ve attended. I loved exploring my leadership style from a female goddess and eastern feminism perspective. My body felt more relaxed, in tune and connected than it has in years with the Divine9 Dance®. I promise you will love Kaouthar and this Goddess weekend!” Lois Nahirney, President and CEO of dnaPower Inc.

About Dr. Kaouthar Darmoni

Assistant Professor in Gender & Media, department of ‘Media Studies’ at the University of Amsterdam. Founder and director of ‘Kaouthar Feminine Capital & Divine 9 Dance®’ in Amsterdam.

Dr. Kaouthar Darmoni (PhD) is an independent scholar and expert in gender studies. After an extensive academic career as Assistant Professor in Gender & Media (University of Amsterdam, Netherlands), she combined her academic passion with her dance and body awareness passion. She started a new international career with her institute ‘Feminine Capital & Divine 9 Dance®’ to teach women how to use their feminine capital and become agents of change and progress in their societies.

Kaouthar is very active in supporting women’s movements all over the world. She is regularly featured as a keynote speaker at some of the largest conferences, as well as being on television, radio, and various internet programs. In addition, she has been the cover story in many national and international magazines and newspapers.

Kaouthar was born in Tunisia where she turned naturally to music and dancing. She was concerned about women’s emancipation from a young age. Led by her passion for the oldest women’s dance form in the world, the Goddess Dance®, she investigated this ancient art. Through travel to Middle Eastern and North African countries and through gender research and practice, she developed ‘Feminine Capital & Divine 9 Dance®’, a unique women’s empowerment training based on brain/gender theories and body/arab dances.

Kaouthar is passionate about creating bridges of communication and exchange between both Western and Arab cultures, using the spirit of music and dance. Her wish is to preserve and share these ancient goddess dances before they disappear, due to modernisation and/or fundamentalism. It’s a valuable human heritage that can be saved from extinction and empowers women to be connected to their bodies and selves!
